Q. Since Georgetown University is so admirably steadfast, why is the clock in its tower so wayward?

A. The tired squirrel which runs in a wheel cage to motivate the clock's gears is a gift of the Class of 1912. The squirrel sprained an ankle in 1926 but has carried on valiantly. This year's senior class has raised funds to retire the deserving incumbent and catch a vigorous young squirrel to run in memory of the men of '26. Georgetown residents within sight and sound of the clock will be grateful for a squirrel able to run in orthodox circles.
